Disabled Ministers' and Ministers' Widows' Fund, FOR NORTH NEW JERSEY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

In order to create a Fund for this benevolent purpose, we recommend :

MEANS.

1. That the Churches composing this Association make an annual public collection in aid of this fund, the Lord's day preceding our Associational meeting.

2. That every church appoint a brother to receive yearly subscriptions and donations to this object.

OBJECTS.

1. Persons intended to receive the benefit of this fund are disabled ordained ministers connected with the Association, and the widows and orphans of deceased ordained ministers, who, at the time of their death, were in good standing in the Association ; and no others.

2. Relief afforded to widows to continue during their widowhood, and no longer.

3. If there be no surviving widow, but children in need, they shall receive the same portion as allowed to the widow, until they respectively arrive to their fifteenth year.

MANAGERS OF THE FUND.

1. This fund shall be entrusted to the custody and sole management of five Trustees, who shall be members of this body, and appointed by the Association, and, by lot, formed into three classes, the term of the first class to expire in one year, the term of the second in two years, and of the third in three years, and the vacancy thus occurring, and which shall occur in similar order in successive years, shall be filled annually by the Association.

2. The Board of Trustees shall meet annually, or oftener if required, for the transaction of business, and shall have power to fill any providential vacancy occurring in the Board, until the next meeting of the Association.

3. All applications for relief shall be made to the Trustees in writing, stating the name, residence, and circumstances of the applicant.

4. It shall be the business of the Board to receive and keep in charge all moneys appropriated to this fund ; to receive and examine all applications for relief, and make such allowance of money to the needy as in their opinion the case may require, and the state of the funds may warrant.

5. It is required that the Trustees present to this Association, at each annual meeting, a statement of their funds, collections, and disbursements, with whatever else may be combined with this benevolent object, and the performance of their duty.

LEGACIES.

Whereas, it is highly probable that benevolent persons will be disposed to remember the Disabled Ministers' and Ministers' Widows' Fund while making their last will and testament, the following form of bequest is respectfully submitted to their attention :

I give and bequeath to my executors herein named the sum of _____ Dollars in trust for the Disabled Ministers' and Ministers' Widows' Fund of the North New Jersey Baptist Association, and direct my executors to pay the same to the person who, at my decease, shall be acting as Treasurer of the said fund, whose receipt shall be a sufficient discharge therefor.

RULES OF ORDER.

1. After the introductory sermon, the Moderator of the last session shall call the Association to order.

2. A Moderator and Clerk for the Association shall then be chosen by ballot.

3. The letters from the Churches shall then be read, and delegates take their seats. Ministers and Messengers from sister Associations and Societies shall then be received, and debate on all questions, but vote on none.

4. Unfinished business shall first be attended to as it stands on the minutes.

5. Committees shall then be appointed on the various subjects requiring the action of the Association.

6. New business shall be attended to in the order in which it is introduced; but no motion shall be entertained until regularly seconded.

7. The Moderator shall appoint committees, unless otherwise ordered by the Association.

8. Every member when he speaks shall rise and address the chair; and no member may speak more than twice on the same subject, nor more than ten minutes at a time, unless permitted by the Association.

9. Every member when called to order shall sit down until the Moderator shall have decided whether he is in order or not, reserving the right to appeal to the body.

10. The minutes shall be leisurely read and corrected before the rising of the Association.

11. Each session shall be opened and closed with prayer.

12. No delegate shall absent himself from the meetings of the Association without leave of the Moderator.

13. Delegates are requested to vote upon all questions before the body requiring a vote.

14. Alterations of these rules may be made at any regular meeting of the Association.

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I. This body shall be called the NORTH NEW JERSEY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

ARTICLE II. This Association shall be composed only of ministers and messengers who shall be members of the churches which they represent; and delegates from societies having similar objects in view may be admitted from time to time at the discretion of the body.

ARTICLE III. The object of this Association shall be to combine the efforts of the several churches of which it is composed, to promote the cause of Christ generally, but more particularly within its own bounds, by holding protracted meetings, by domestic missions, and by other benevolent plans, to which the churches or individuals of this body may be disposed voluntarily to contribute.

ARTICLE IV. As a summary of the doctrines and practices in which we unite as an Association, we adopt the following:

We believe that the Bible was written by Divine inspiration; that it is a perfect rule of Faith and Practice; and that, among others, it teaches the following important truths:

1. That there is one living and true God, infinite in every moral and natural excellence.
2. That he has revealed himself as the Father and the Son, and the Holy Spirit; the same in essence and equal in divine attributes.
3. That man was created upright; but sinning, he fell from that state; so that, by nature, there is in us no holiness, but we are inclined only to evil, and, "in that all have sinned," all are children of wrath, justly exposed to death, temporal and eternal.
4. The only way of salvation from this state of guilt and condemnation is through the righteousness and atonement of Jesus Christ, who assumed our nature, or became incarnate for the suffering of death, "and whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in His blood, having so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life."
5. That all who are brought in repentance and faith were chosen in Christ before the foundation of the world; and that, in consequence not of their merit, but of God's own purpose and grace, the Holy Spirit (without whose influence none would ever repent and believe) performs the work of regeneration in their hearts.
6. That nothing can separate true believers from the love of God, but that they will be kept by the power of God, through faith unto salvation; the sure and final proof of their being true believers consisting in the continuance of their attachment and obedience to Christ till the close of life.
7. That the only proper subjects of the Ordinance of Baptism and the Lord's Supper are professed believers; and that Baptism cannot be administered without immersion, and is, by Scriptural example, a prerequisite to Communion at the Lord's Table.
8. That according to the example of the Apostles, sanctioned by the repeated presence of Christ himself, after his resurrection, the first day of the week is to be observed as the Lord's Day.
9. That there will be a resurrection both of the just and the unjust; and that the Lord Jesus Christ will judge the quick and dead; when those who have continued or died impenitent will be sentenced to endless punishment, according to the desert of their sins; and all true believers in Christ, being completely delivered from sin, will be admitted into everlasting joy, and so shall they ever be with the Lord.

ARTICLE V. Churches wishing to unite with this Association, may apply by letter and Messengers; and giving satisfactory information of their being sound in doctrine and correct in practice, they may be received; in token of which the Moderator shall give to their Messenger the right hand of fellowship in behalf of the Association.

ARTICLE VI. The officers of this Association shall be a Moderator, a Clerk (who shall also be Corresponding Secretary), and a Treasurer: who with nine other persons, chosen annually, shall constitute a Board of Managers for the transaction of business during the associational year, and shall continue in office until successors are appointed—any five of whom shall be a quorum.

ARTICLE VII. Any Church may send five delegates, and an additional one for every 100 members.

ARTICLE VIII. This Association shall hold its annual meeting commencing on the second Wednesday in June, at 10 o'clock A.M., and continue two days.

ARTICLE IX. The primary object of the meetings of this body shall be strictly religious and devotional, and shall be designed for the special purpose of promoting a revival spirit in the churches with which they may be held.

ARTICLE X. When a church shall neglect making any communication to the Association for three years successively, it shall be considered as having withdrawn from us and shall be dropped from the minutes, unless at least two members request their continuance, who shall also engage to enquire into their standing, and report at the next annual meeting of the Association.

ARTICLE XI. This Constitution may be subject to amendment at any annual meeting.

2. WHEREAS, The Educational Commission expressed the desire that the Baptist Denomination of the country should recognize its own historical connection with the rise and growth of the nationality by such Memorial Services as would fitly express its gratitude for the past, and its aims for the future; therefore,

3. Resolved, That this Association cordially accept the proposals to unite with our Brethren abroad over the continent in the effort to raise Five Millions of Dollars, for the endowment of their Educational Institutions, as being an appropriate memorial of the life-work of our Fathers, and the surest method possible for rendering that work effective in behalf of the generations to come.

4. Resolved, That, while as a part of the Baptist Denomination of New Jersey, we gratefully recognize the blessing of God upon the work of our hands, in founding our Educational Institutions in this Commonwealth, whence proceeded, more than a century ago, the first impulses in this direction that have wrought out, North and South, results that have transcended the hopes of the early workers, we commend to the churches of this Body, and to all in sympathy with them, the importance of this call to Union in making the coming Centennial of the nation the occasion of such an establishment of the Educational Institutions of New Jersey as shall render them a perpetual power in the land, and a source of encouragement for advancement still onward on the part of those who shall have in their keeping our denominational trusts at the close of the succeeding century.

5. Resolved, That while, to this end, we call upon the wealthy to "devise liberal things," we call upon the poor to devise liberal things also; that thus the rich and poor, the young and old, the strong and weak, may, according to their several ability, share in the work and the reward.

6. Resolved, That we heartily approve of the decision of the Convention recently held in Trenton, and representing the Baptists of the entire State, to raise at least $30,000 as their portion of the $500,000 Centennial Educational Fund, and that we will use our best effort to supply our proportion of that sum by organized action, adapted to call forth contributions from all, old and young alike, friendly to the enterprise.

72. The Committee on Obituaries reported :

The First Baptist Church of Paterson has mentioned in the annual letter, the departure of "a mother in Israel," whose life and character were quite noteworthy, apart from the extraordinary fact that her Christian pilgrimage on the earth was extended beyond the limit of "threescore and ten," that, according to the ancient Scripture, determines the life-time of the human race.

It is very rarely the case that any church, however large its membership, is permitted to place among its cherished treasures the legacy of such a discipleship.

Mrs. Jane Owens, the widow of Mr. Robert T. Owens, who was for many years a highly esteemed Deacon of the Church, was a native of Wales, and about the year 1803 was converted, and was baptized by the venerable John Williams, pastor of the Fayette Street (afterwards known as the Oliver Street) Church, being, at the time of reception by the Church, a resident of New York.

From her early days she was regarded as a person of distinguished character; a Christian woman of more than ordinary intelligence; thoroughly "rooted and grounded," as Paul expresses it, "in the truth as it is in Jesus."

Many who have known her personally from their youthful days will verify the testimony of the Church in their declaration, that she was a great reader of the Bible, firm in her convictions, fearless and frank in the expression of her convictions, an agreeable companion, devotedly attached to her denomination, ever ready and skillful to defend their views and practices.

Her thin pale face, her piercing dark eyes, and her snow-white hair, gave her a peculiarly pleasing appearance, which, once seen, would not soon be forgotten.

In her last illness, in which her deportment was both characteristic and Christian, just before her departure, she gave expression to her feelings, not in the English language which she had spoken for many years, but in the Welsh, the language of her early youth.

Thus, at the age of ninety-two, she entered the kingdom of Christ on high, "as a little child," in the simplicity of her first faith, in the joy of her first love.

"Her memory is blessed."

The Church at Millington reports the sudden departure of Deacon Abraham Dunn, who was, we are informed, "taken without warning." "But he was ready, his lamp was trimmed and burning; his last act was an act of worship, his last word, Amen."

We appreciate testimonies like this. They are never lost, God uses them. They shall not return void, but accomplish the things which His grace hath purposed.

The Millburn Church speaks of the removal, by death, of their beloved Sister Chambers, the estimable wife of their late pastor.

The Passaic Church mourn the loss of three of their members, by death—Sister Christy and Mrs. Mary Paulison; the latter, one of the constituent members of the Church, at the age of 81 passed joyfully from the labors of earth to the rewards of heaven.

Brother C. F. Hardwick, an earnest, devoted disciple of Christ, fell asleep in Jesus, May 17th.

"So He giveth His beloved sleep."

The Livingston Church makes mention of the departure from earth of one of their members, Sister Betsy Cook, who died in the triumphs of faith.

"Be ye also ready."

W. HAGUE, Chairman.

Their Home and Mission Sunday Schools are in a flourishing condition. Have bought a piece of land in the rear of their Church property, and are making preparation to enlarge their place of worship. AN OUTLINE OF THE HISTORY
OF THE
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF WANTAGE, N. J.

REVISED BY REV. GEO. F. LOVE.

The First Baptist Church of Wantage has a peculiar history. From all the information that can be gathered, it originated under the following circumstances:

A number of persons withdrew from the established church of Mansfield, Conn., about the year 1749 or 1750, and organized an independent or separate church, with the following named persons:

William Marsh and wife, Joshua Egard and wife, Joseph Pomeroy and wife, William Southworth and wife, John Slate and wife, David Chapman and wife, Elizabeth Lathrop, Mary Nicholas, Elkanah and Rudolphus Fuller.

As soon as they were recognized as a church, they chose William Marsh for their pastor, who was ordained at the same time by a council, the names of whom are not found.

The following year, 1751, they agreed to emigrate to New Jersey in a body and settle at Newtown, (now Newton), in the northern part of Sussex county.

They had not been long in their new settlement before some manifested scruples about infant baptism, as it is called, and openly declared for believers' baptism.

The question now arose whether baptism administered by an unbaptized person was valid. However, they decided the question in the affirmative.

Accordingly, Elkanah Fuller immersed William Marsh, then Marsh immersed Fuller. This was in the winter of 1752 or 3, for it was remembered that the ice was cut in the form of a grave.

The following year William Marsh immersed Joshua Cole, Captain Roe, Daniel Roberts, Hezekiah Smith and wife, and Rudolphus Fuller.

These persons were formed into a gospel church November 14, 1756, known as the Newtown Baptist Church, which name it bore for thirty-four years, or until 1790, when it was changed to the First Baptist Church of Wantage, with a covenant which is said to be still extant, though the records of prior transactions are lost.

In October, 1757, this church joined the Philadelphia Association.

From the records we find this to be an original church, and in thirty-four years had increased from eight to seventy-six members.

In 1761, Mr. Marsh introduced the Moravian system. Thirty-six persons adopted the new plan, but being chiefly poor members, the project failed in less than two years.

With this failure, and Mr. Marsh changing his manner of preaching, and turning his attention to secular pursuits, left them in 1763. The church became very small and feeble.

Mr. Marsh went to Wyoming, where he was murdered by Indians.

He was born at Wrentham, Conn., ordained at Mansfield, Conn., by ministers of the Separate Order, which ordination served him when he became a Baptist.

In 1771, Nicholas Cox was called to the pastorate and ordination, who served them about ten years.

In reference to the ordination of Elder Cox, it may be interesting to note the following piece of history. "The church at Newtown desire the Association to appoint the time and ministers to ordain Nicholas Cox. The Association reply, that the appointment of both properly belong to the churches." This item would lead us to conclude that at that date this church had not wholly overcome the traditional notion, that conformity to the ecclesiastical usage of the denomination from which they had recently withdrawn, was an indispensable necessity to give validity to any act of such sacred importance. It also shows the vigilance of our fathers in guarding against the faintest semblance of interference with church independence in matters of this kind. During Mr. Cox's ministry, many were hopefully converted, and eighty-four were baptized.

The congregation becoming large, being the only one in Newton, Wantage and Hardiston, they decided to build a meeting-house, which they did, on a hill between Judge Shee's and David Benjamin's, for the accommodation of that part of the church living in that vicinity, and another on the hill south of Augusta, near the grave-yard, on the road leading from Augusta to Newton.

It appears from Morgan Edwards' history, that the ground on which this second house stood was given by John Stevens and £5 cash. His conveyance is dated October 7, 1771. Congregation, sixty-six families, of whom seventy-six persons are church members.

Mr. Cox preached alternately in the two houses of worship, and lived between Hamburg and Deckertown. It appears that the pastor's labors were much more successful in the Hamburg than the Newton district. In those days it was common to have baptisms every month in the Walkill, and on the Lord's day the people would collect in groups and take the footpaths over the hills and through valleys, each appearing before God in Zion.

In 1777 and 8, large numbers of the church settled in Wantage, when it was agreed to remove the meeting-house from Hardiston to Wantage, near the site of the present building, which was erected in 1830.

Mr. Cox resigned the pastorate in 1782, and became pastor of the church in Great Valley, Pa., and from thence to Kingwood, where he continued in the pastoral office until 1790, when, by embracing the heretical tenets of Elhanan Winchester, he forfeited the fellowship of the Baptist church. His apostacy is alluded to by the Association, at its annual meeting in 1790, in the following language: "This Association lament that they have occasion again to call the attention of that part of Zion we represent to another awful instance of the departure from the faith once delivered to the saints. Mr. Nicholas Cox, late a brother in the ministry, having espoused and artfully, as well as strenuously endeavored, to propagate the fatal notion of the universal restoration of bad men and devils from hell; as such, we caution our churches, those of our sister Associations, and Christian brethren of every denomination, to beware of him."

Mr. Cox was born in Newcastle County, Delaware, March 24, 1742; called to the ministry and licensed in Philadelphia in 1771; ordained at Wantage April 15, 1772, by a council consisting of Elders Miller, Benedict and Sutton.

Mr. Cox was succeeded by Rev. James Finn, who was ordained April, 23 1783, by a council composed of Elders Runyon and Cox.

Mr. Finn resigned in 1786, and became pastor of the Baptist Church at Pittston, Luzerne County, Pa., where he devoted some seven years to the work of the ministry. After this he went to a place called Thornbottom, on the Tunkhannock Creek, where a few years after he died. His descendants in that part of Pennsylvania became quite numerous, many of whom were found walking in the footsteps of their venerable ancestor.

Silas Southworth, a member of the church, became their pastor, and was ordained by Elders West and Jayne, May 31, 1786.

In 1794 the pastor, with brethren Humphrey Martin, John Thompson and Sylvanus Southworth, were appointed delegates to the Association.

The following year the church gave her consent and approval to brother Thomas Casad to exercise his gift in preaching, which, in January, 1796, was changed to a formal license.

At a special church meeting, held April 22, 1797, the pastor was engaged to preach every Lord's day for £60 per annum, to be raised by subscription, or £50, guaranteed, which was agreed to.

At the same meeting, a number of members living in the neighborhood of Westtown, (now called Unionville), desired to be set off as a separate church.

This request led to the calling of an advisory council, whose decision should determine their course of action.

The churches invited to send their pastors and delegates were Warwick, Brookfield, Deepark and Hamburg. The council met May 9, 1797. After prayer, Elder B. Montanya was chosen Moderator, and Elder Thomas Montanya, Clerk.

The following brethren composed the council: Thomas Harden, John Sutton, Matthew Bennett and Elder Thomas Teasdale.

Elder Southworth and Deacon Evi Adams stated to the council the object of the meeting, and after hearing the reasons for and against the proposed organization, the council unanimously agreed that it would be for the glory of God and the interest of Zion to grant the request, and that the mother church encourage the enterprise. "Signed, Thomas Montanya, Clerk."

Accordingly, May 20, 1797, the church gave a general Letter of Dismission to twenty-three persons to form the Westtown, afterward changed to the Second Baptist Church of Wantage.*

The following are the names of the constituent members:

Inman Walling, Thomas Casad, James Rosecrance, John Masterson, John Myers, M. Doty, Ebenezer Mead, Nathan Holley, Seth Wickham, Cornelius Handley, B. Holley, Joseph Stewart, Amy Walling, Ann Myers, Abigail Casad, Sarah Casterline, Martha Owens, Sarah Braffitt, Phebe Wickham, Mary Rosecrance, Elizabeth Casterline, Sarah Perry and Mary Stewart.

Following this swarming out, many joined by baptism.

November 4, 1798, Nathaniel Martin, William Jennings and John Wilson were chosen trustees to receive a deed in trust for the use of the First Baptist Church of Wantage, for the land on which their meeting-house stood, said deed to be given by Joseph Sharp, Richard Edsall, Elias Ogden and Martin Ryerson.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century, the congregation had made the grand discovery that cold feet and a shivering body were not conducive to a devotional frame of mind, or helpful to any soul into the Kingdom of Heaven. So on January 4, 1800, they decided to buy a stove to warm the place of worship; and at a special meeting, held at the house of Brother Humphrey Martin, it was decided to use Dr. Watts' Hymns in public worship.

* This new church joined the Warwick Association in 1798, with Elder Thomas Casad as pastor.

This year several members of Wantage and Warwick Churches, living at Newfoundland, sent a request that the Lord's Supper be administered to them twice a year, once by the Warwick pastor, and once by the pastor of this church, which, as far as this church was concerned, was granted. This was followed by the pastor preaching at Newfoundland once a month.

For some years the church meetings were very irregular; but on May 14, 1803, it was resolved that the church meet on the Saturday before the First Lord's Day in each month, and that the Communion be observed every two months. This year was marked by larger attendance at church and other meetings, and many baptisms.

1804 begins with the following minute: "That the church raise $100 for the support of our pastor, and that the money be levied on the male members, according to their ability; that it be paid quarterly in cash, or grain, at the market price. N. Martin, Treasurer."

This same year a number of members living at Newfoundland, requested the church to send their pastor and delegates to assist in constituting them a Gospel Church, and to ordain Brother Ebenezer Jayne* as their pastor.

At a regular church meeting, held May 4, 1805, Letters of Dismission were given to Uriah Adams, Sarah Adams, Jerusha DeWitt, Mary DeWitt, Thomas Lewis, Lemuel Tingley, and Enos Tingley, to join the Westtown, now changed to the Second Baptist Church of Wantage.

This Second Wantage Church, by this addition, numbered eighty-six members, whose pastor, Elder Casad, died in 1808, and was succeeded in 1811 by Elder John Wintermote, who was called into the ministry by the church. His pastorate continued six years, during which one hundred and forty-seven were immersed.

Elder Zelotes Grenelle succeeded him in 1818, and was ordained in August, 1819. He continued to serve the Second Wantage Church until 1822, when one hundred and twenty-three members, including the pastor, were dismissed to constitute the Orange Church. It was with this new organization that the Rev. John M. Carpenter, of Bloomingdale, united by baptism, January 9, 1825.

In November, 1833, Brother Carpenter, with eighty-five others, withdrew from the Orange Church and formed the Mount Salem Baptist Church.

This Second Church, of Wantage is now extinct.

April 4, 1807, the church resolved to spend the day in prayer and conference for mutual edification and comfort. At this time, it was customary to record the names of all who attended church meetings, and wait on all absentees by letter or messenger, to know their reasons for non-attendance.

In 1808, the church agreed to give their pastor $200 per annum.

In 1809, Elder Southworth resigned his charge and left the field, but was recalled the following year at a salary of $125 per annum, the money to be raised by pew rents.

On February 20, 1814, Elder Southworth departed this life, having served the church twenty-seven years. During his ministry, large numbers were converted and baptized, and the church enjoyed great prosperity. Meetings were largely attended, and there was a marked fidelity to church obligations and discipline. Silas Southworth was born at Mansfield, Conn., January 20, 1751, carried in his mother's arms to New Jersey, and from there by angels to Abraham's bosom. His dust reposes in the graveyard near the church, there to rest until the Resurrection morning. His name is chiseled on marble, and engraved on many a heart—his record is on high.

Following Elder Southworth, the church was supplied with preaching in part by Elders House and Teasdale.

* The father of the celebrated Dr. David Jayne, of Philadelphia.

In July, 1815, messengers were appointed to meet at Brookfield, to adopt some plan for sustaining Foreign Missions.

November 4, 1815, the church gave Elder Levi Hall a unanimous call to become their pastor, which was accepted, and the following May he was formally installed, and received the right hand of fellowship from Deacon Evi Adams.

In July, 1816, a proposition was made to build a house of worship in the village of Deckertown, which was voted down.

The writer has been informed that Matthew Cooper, Esq., a leading Presbyterian, offered the church an eligible site on Bank street for a meeting-house, which was refused.

In 1818, the church resolved to have a preparatory sermon before Communion. January, 1819, the pastor requested several brethren to meet the church at Newfoundland, for the purpose of encouraging them and strengthening the things that remained, which had a blessed influence, and led to their wish to have Elder Hall preach there once a month.

In June, 1819, Brother Jonathan Sharp was chosen Deacon, and the pastor was to have liberty to preach in the Beemer meeting-house once a month.

For some time the subject of ordaining Deacons was discussed, but finally dropped.

In March, 1820, Brother Humphrey Martin was chosen clerk, and the church at Franklin asked the services of the pastor to administer the ordinance of baptism, and that the church would give Brother Nathan Holley, one of their members, a license to preach to them.

Elder Hall died August 31, 1821, and rests near his predecessor. His ministry was brief, but very successful. During his pastorate the church enjoyed marked tokens of the Divine favor, and many were added to them, such as we hope are saved. "The memory of the just is blessed."

In March, 1822, Elder John Hagan became the pastor, and the following November a number of brethren from Second Wantage and Brookfield invited this church to aid in constituting them, what is now, the Orange Church.

This church called a council December 3, 1822, to ordain one of her members, Brother Nathan Holley, who was set apart to the work of the Gospel Ministry, by the following order of exercises:

Sermon by Elder Z. Grenelle.

Charge by Elder T. Teasdale.

Hand of Fellowship by Elder Hagan.

Ordaining Prayer by Elder Gillette.

In 1825, Elder John Hagan resigned, and was succeeded by Elder Leonard Fletcher, March, 1826, who was installed May 11. Sermon by Elder H. Ball, and the Hand of Fellowship by Elder T. Teasdale.

The church met in August, 1826, and formed a Religious Tract Society, with Leonard Fletcher, President; Dr. Allen, Vice-President; Simeon McCoy, Secretary; Humphrey Martin, Treasurer. John Wilson, Gabriel Bross, R. F. Randolph, John Cox, W. Jennings, Thomas Teasdale and Charles Baxter, Managers.

The church gave a formal license to Brother A. J. Baird to preach the Gospel.

In 1828, Brother John Teasdale was licensed, and the following year Thomas C. Teasdale was also licensed to exercise his gift in holding forth the word of life.

John Teasdale became pastor of the Hamburg Church, and was killed by a railroad disaster in the Southwest.

Thomas C. Teasdale became pastor of the Newton Church, and has since been engaged in the Master's work in the South.

The winter of 1829 and 30 was remarkable for a glorious revival. One hundred precious souls were hopefully converted and baptized into the church, many of whom continue until this day to adorn the doctrine of God their Saviour, but some have fallen asleep.

In December, 1829, the church decided to build a meeting-house, which was done under the direction of the following committee:

John Post, Humphrey Martin, Wells Benjamin, N. J. Cox, David Benjamin, William Wilson, Simeon McCoy, Lewis Adams and Reuben F. Randolph.

A minute of January 1, 1830, says that Elder Fletcher immersed twenty-eight persons in twenty minutes. At this rate the Twelve Apostles could have immersed three thousand in about three hours.

December 8, 1830, the church sent the pastor, with brethren Allen, Bross, Clay, Havens, McCoy, Martin and Randolph to sit in council at Hamburg, with a view to ordain to the work of the Gospel Ministry, Brothers John and Thomas C. Teasdale.

In December, 1831, Elder Fletcher resigned, and was succeeded the following year by Elder Timothy Jackson, who came from Philadelphia, the church paying his moving expenses. During 1832, fifty-seven persons were baptized.

In March, 1833, the church decided to withdraw from the Warwick Association to join with others in forming the Sussex Association.

The pastor, with brethren McCoy, Martin, John and James Wilson, were appointed delegates to meet at Hamburg and draft a constitution, to present to the church at the next meeting, which was accepted May 4.

A letter was sent for the last time to the Warwick Association, which met at Orange in June, 1833.

In July, 1833, Brethren G. Bross, S. McCoy, J. Bross, H. Martin and Jas. Wilson were appointed to conduct district prayer and conference meetings.

Following the above appointment, a committee of twelve brethren were designated to look after delinquent members, and exhort them to watchfulness and duty.

February, 1834, the subject of procuring a parsonage was discussed, and Brethren Post and Shelley were instructed to view certain premises and report in two weeks, which was as follows:

A lot can be bought of Benjamin J. Adams for $550; terms, to be paid in three annual instalments.

The church appointed Brethren S. McCoy, J. Bross, H. Allen, R. F. Randolph and Asa Wilson to raise by subscription the money, and pay the same to the Trustees, which it appears was never done.

About this time a special meeting was held to pray for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, and the conversion of sinners, which was followed by the baptism of several persons.

In October, 1835, Elder Jackson resigned his charge, and was succeeded by Elder Isaac Moore the following year.

In 1839, the church made another effort to secure a parsonage, and $632 were subscribed for that object, when it was dropped.

In 1840, Elder Moore resigned. During his pastorate, which was a very successful one, nearly one hundred persons were baptized into the church.

October, 1840, Elder W. M. Fay was called to serve the church as pastor, at a salary of $500 per annum.

In 1841, Brother John M. Ball was licensed to preach the Gospel.

Elder Fay resigned in 1842. His pastorate was not very happy, owing to unfavorable reports against his moral character, which sadly interfered with the peace of the church and the prosperity of Zion.

The next pastor was Rev. Sanford Leach, who entered upon his labors in 1842, and served the Church two years, when he resigned and removed to Massachusetts; afterwards labored in Humbergh, Hawley and the far West, where he died and rested from his toils.

His widow and children are with us, and two of his sons, Heman A. and Lemuel (with their mother) are members of the church. "Instead of the fathers shall come up the children, whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth."

Following Brother Leach's pastorate, there was considerable difficulty in choosing a successor. Among the ministers sought after, were J. Belcher, W. D. Hires, A. Wheelock, S. S. Parker and Leonard Fletcher, a former pastor. All these failed.

In November, 1845, the Church gave a unanimous call to Rev. D. F. Twiss, who accepted, and January 7th, 1847, a council was called to ordain him, with the following order of exercises: Sermon by Rev. John Dowling, Ordaining Prayer, Rev. J. B. Case, Charge to the Pastor by Rev. H. Ball, Charge to the Church by Rev. John Davis, Closing Prayer by Rev. Mr. Rich, with laying on of hands by Brethren Ball, Case, Cox and Dowling. Mr. Twiss resigned in 1849, and was succeeded by Rev. Thomas Davis. Brother Davis' pastorate commenced with a blessed revival, in which many souls were converted, and a goodly number were baptized.

In 1850 the Church licensed Brother J. L. Barlow to preach the gospel, who has since been a very successful pastor in the State of New York.

In 1854 Brother Davis resigned, but the following year was recalled, when he returned and served the Church four years longer. During Brother Davis' two terms of service, 64 persons were baptized.

In August, 1859, Rev. Joseph Belden became the pastor, and served them eighteen months, when he was followed by Geo. F. Love, of Long Island, in March, 1861, who served them four years, during which time thirty-six persons were baptized, and general prosperity enjoyed.

In 1865, Geo. F. Love resigned, and went to Warwick, Orange County, New York, where he was instrumental in gathering the New Calvary Baptist Church, and building a house of worship.

In 1865, Rev. D. T. Hill became pastor, and labored four years, during which time twenty-three persons were baptized.

In 1869, Brother Hill resigned, and went to Paulings, N. Y.

After Brother Hill left, the Church was supplied for some months by Rev. Isaac Moore, a former pastor, whose labors were not in vain, as four persons were baptized.

In July, 1870, a Committee was appointed to buy a lot and build a parsonage, and through the indefatigable labors of Sisters James F. Martin and Jacob V. Little about $2,000 were subscribed for that purpose; when, owing to a difference of opinion in reference to its location, the enterprise was abandoned.

In 1870, the Church gave Rev. C. G. Gurr a call to become their pastor, which, for want of a suitable house in which to live, he declined. Then a call was extended to Rev. Geo. F. Love, of Newburgh, a former pastor, which was accepted, and he entered upon his labors December 1st, 1870, and served the Church three years, when he retired from the pastorate. During this second term of service some refreshings were enjoyed, and ten persons baptized.

The subject of building a house of worship in the village had been discussed more or less for many years, and the best friends of the Church urged and desired to see the work accomplished.

Rev. D. T. Hill offered the Church an eligible site on which to build, and Asa Munson, Esq., also offered a large lot for the same purpose, both of which were declined.

In March, 1874, Rev. E. Jewett, of Sharon, N. Y., accepted the pastorate, and entered upon his labors in April.

The Wantage Church joined the Philadelphia Association in 1757, and in 1791 withdrew with the Warwick Church and united with the Yorktown, Northcastle, New Cornwall, Newburgh, Stanford, Ridgefield, Clintontown, Cross River, Frederickstown, Bedford, First Fishkill, Second New York, Brookfield, Peekskill, and Chemung Churches in the formation of the Warwick Association, which relation was sustained until June, 1833, when it withdrew with two others, Hamburg and First Newton (now Lafayette), and formed the Sussex Association, which, in June, 1872, was changed to the North New Jersey Association.
